

MINDEN IN FINALS

Monarchs Take On Series With Beeton

Minden Monarchs gave another dazzling display of hockey on Wednesday evening when they eliminated Napanee from intermediate "C" competition and put themselves in the OHA finals in this class.

This great hockey machine of which Minden have every reason to be mighty proud, has been developed largely through the efforts of Messrs. Lytle, Vasey and Brown and they really proved that during this last week they have plenty of the stuff of which champions are made.

Monarch's chances of taking two games straight from this highly touted Napanee machine did not appear too bright Monday evening in Bobcaygeon when for all the first period they trailed 1-0. In the second they really started to roll and came out front by a score 6-3.

After Monday night's game

everyone wondered if Minden could overcome the jinx of Napanee ice where they had twice lost but those who heard the broadcast were convinced that the Monarch's had too much legs and hockey ability for their opposition who they trounced by a score of 9-4.

Minden Monarchs will again display their hockey wares in Bobcaygeon when they meet Beeton in the finals Saturday and we are sure a great number of hockey fans will be there to cheer the Monarchs on as they endeavor to bring Haliburton County its first OHA championship.

Minden's goal getters in Monday night's game at Bobcaygeon were Gary Vasey with three, S. Yearwood with two and Glen Vasey with one.

Napanee's goal getters were Fish, McAllister and Williams with one each.

Parade Of Talent Is Huge Success

Variety night, which was held in the beautiful auditorium of the Haliburton County District High School on Friday evening last under the auspices of the Dysart Home and School Association was one of the most successful and enjoyable events ever staged in this community. Those present were treated to a parade of talent that was a credit to the County of Haliburton and we must also add Fenelon Falls.

Those in charge of the event deserve much credit for its success with special bouquets to Miss J. Minott who put everything she had into making the event a success.

Below will be found the program.

The Haliburton County

Brass Band conducted by Fred Clements started the proceedings with O Canada and two lively marches. Next came a choral speaking by grades I and II under the direction of Mrs. B. Walling. Grant Brooks gave a monologue, Mrs. H. Inglis led her grade IV class in choral singing. Next came Al Blanchard and Deac. Jackson with a skit called "Sense and Nonsense." Six high school boys next put on a gymnastic display which was followed by violin selection by Harold Brodhagen which was enjoyed very much.

The next selection on the program was the newly formed singing group The Madrigals under the direction of

BLAME DEATH ON LACK OF TRAINING

RULE CHIEF DIES BECAUSE BYLAW WAS OUT-DATED

Inadequate training and equipment, due to an out-dated fire by-law, were blamed for the death of fire chief Thomas Chambers of Haliburton, March 12.

Chambers died of asphyxiation in the smoke-filled basement of the Bank of Montreal building in the village. Minutes after he had been given up for lost, the bank was an inferno, and his body was not recovered until four hours later.

The coroner's jury, sitting under Dr. H. E. Good, of Haliburton, attached no blame to anyone for the chief's death. Evidence was given that the chief went into the cellar of the bank carrying a hose, followed by Donald Iles, another firefighter.

Iles was sprayed by a blast from the chief's hose when he reached the bottom of the steps, and had to return to the upper floor. Another bystander, Boyd Robertson, saw Iles come up, and went into the basement himself, without mask or any equipment.

Found Chief

He found the chief sitting against a wall eight feet from the stairway and dragged the big man to the stairs, where he was unable to go further, and returned upstairs. He said he told others to get the chief, and went outside, but found when he returned that efforts had been abandoned.

The chief and Iles wore new masks owned by the department but which were of a filter type, and were useless, according to Dave Lowe of the fire marshal's department, in atmospheres containing less than enough oxygen to support a flame. The chief was not wearing the mask when his body was found.

Mr. Lowe advanced another theory of the events leading to the chief's death. He said the hose pressure of 120 pounds in the chief's hose was far above the 50 pounds which should have been necessary in the circumstances. Turning the hose on might have thrown the chief violently against a wall and stunned him until the lack of oxygen in the room took its toll.

Took No Courses

Mr. Lowe and Cliff Campbell of his office told the jury about the various types of training courses available to municipal fire departments through the fire marshal's office, and pointed out that none had ever been taken by members of the Haliburton department.

The fire chief, it was mentioned, often had too much difficulty in rounding up his volunteers for training courses.

The clerk of the township, Gilbert Windsor, told of a council meeting one week after the fire which passed a new fire by-law, making it possible for the brigade to obtain more modern equip-

Building By-Law Passed At Dysart Council Meet

Dysart municipal council met in the Canadian Legion hall on Monday morning with all members present.

The main subject of council discussion was the passing of a building by-law. After quite some discussion the by-law received the necessary readings and was passed. We understand that it becomes effective immediately.

Some of the members thought that it might be wise to give the council more time to study the by-law before giving it final reading. However, others contended that this would mean that it would not go into effect until some time in May when most of the new building projects would be underway, and that there had already been too much delay.

It was felt that should any amendments have to be made they could wait until a later date.

Two letters were read: one from Boice Motor Sales and another from Curry Motors, stating that whereas the council had advertised for tenders on a truck for 25,000 pounds they had purchased a truck with a carrying capacity of lesser amount. Both firms stated that if they had known a truck of lower capacity would be accepted they could have tendered at a much lower figure.

Council admitted their error in this matter and new tenders will be called for.

Reeve Noice stated that it was continually being brought to his attention that citizens on the main street of Haliburton had their rest greatly disturbed on Sunday mornings by patrons who hang around the restaurants until a very late hour and then race their cars up and down Highland St. at excessive rate of speed and he also spoke of the appearance of the street on Sunday mornings which saw broken pop bottles and potato cups littering the street from one end to the other.

The reeve was of the opinion that if restaurants were compelled to close their doors at 11.30 p.m. a lot of the trouble might be avoided but as council felt that such a measure would have to be in effect all over the municipality and would be poor business in a tourist area no action was taken in this matter.

Mrs. Essie Stevens of West Guilford and Mr. Dave Ferrel of Haliburton, who apparently started grass fires without any permit whatever, will be billed with the cost of fighting the blazes by the municipality.

This may seem rather harsh but it would appear that it is the only manner to impress upon people who set out fires without obtaining a permit that they are breaking the law.

There being no further business council then adjourned.

Listen to radio station CKLY Lindsay on Sunday afternoon at 1.30 for a round table talk on Dysart township.

Red Shield Appeal To Begin On May 1

Plans for the Salvation Army's Red Shield Appeal to be launched on May 2, are now complete, according to Lieut. Leonard, in charge of local corps operations. The objective will be $1,300 for Haliburton county.

Campaign chairman will again be Mr. Clayton Hodgson, our local member of parliament, who will be assisted by Mr. Berkeley Feir, as publicity chairman and Mr. Norman Grose as campaign treasurer.

Appeals for help being made to the Salvation Army in Canada have never been so multiplied or so urgent, says Lieut. Leonard. Over 1.5 million people receive help from the Salvation Army during 1956. Well over 100 social service institutions and ment, and to pay the firemen for their time in training and on fires.

Crown attorney Lorne Jordan of Lindsay complimented the council for their move and commended Iles and Robertson for their brave attempts to rescue their chief. —Peterboro Examiner.

1,000 corps are spread throughout Canada, caring for all kinds of human need and sheltering thousands of less fortunate Canadians.

Mr. Clayton Hodgson, in accepting the responsibility as chairman said: "We have made considerable progress with our collections each year for the Salvation Army, but after all it should be easy to collect for this campaign. I must say again that the Salvation Army is the greatest organization for good that we have in our democratic life in Canada, and anything I can do to further its interest will be a pleasure."

FOREST PROTECTION

The 1956 fire season is officially underway. Every year we advertise that April 1 begins the start of the fire season in the local papers, our weekly bulletin and generally on the radio. We have signs posted around the countryside that advise people that the fire season is from April 1 to October 31 every year. We also point out that the regulations as set down under the Forest Fires Prevention Act must be adhered to during this period, and that this Act applies to the fire district.

We outline what counties and townships are in the fire district in the Lindsay administrative district. We appoint our honorary fire wardens at this season and they in turn are instructed in the issuance of burning permits, and to generally advertise to all neighbors that all fires set out for clean up burning must be covered by a burning permit.

After all the publicity then that we give to the opening of the fire season and the regulations pertaining to burning, year after year our rangers check smokes which turn out to be some farmer or summer resort owner doing some spring clean up burning around his property. When they are asked if they have a burning permit to cover the fire an astonished look appears on their faces and the following are some of the stock answers:

"What is a burning permit?"

"Do you mean I have to have a burning permit for a fire on my own property?"

"What is the fire season?"

"I thought the first season started May 1."

"I am sorry I didn't know."

"You mean you can see this little bit of smoke from the fire tower?"

"Don't you think you fellows are makin' a big fuss over this little bit of rubbish?"

And so on.

When the regulations are explained and it is pointed out that a crew of men and equipment have been tied up to come to investigate this smoke when possibly the men are needed on a real bush fire, and finally when it is pointed out that a charge will or can be laid under the terms of the Act, most persons feel indignant to say the least.

For example last year a farmer decided to burn up some rubbish out behind the barn, and the wind spread the fire to an adjoining field. When the fire was finally brought under control it had burned over some eight acres and destroyed a municipal building. When questioned he stated that he thought the fire season came into effect April 15.

The fire season extends from April 1 to October 31 and can be extended if necessary.

Work Permits

A new work permit is required after March 31. Your application for a work permit should show in detail exactly the area in which you plan to operate, the location of your camps, and the number of men and the amount of fire fighting equipment available.

Fire Permits

During the fire season no burning will be permitted except under permit, obtainable from the local ranger.

The fire district in the Lindsay administrative district is as follows:

The County of Haliburton, the townships of Longford, Digby, Dalton, Laxton and Somerville in the County of

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Battle In The Barnyard

When it comes to farm management, an "ounce of prevention" can be worth literally millions of pounds—pounds of meat and poultry and dairy produce which the nation stands to lose through animal diseases. Since livestock products account for 60 per cent of farm income, protecting animals from disease is a major problem for American farmers.

Livestock diseases often hit hardest in spring months, when the newborn animal population reaches a peak. The young animals fall easy prey to deadly microbes during the first few weeks of life, before natural defenses can be mustered.

This spring an estimated 56 million pigs, 7 million dairy calves, and more than a billion chicks will be added to the nation's barnyard population. But unless preventive measures are taken, diseases such as scours and pneumonia will cut down three out of 10 pigs and three out of 12 calves. Millions of chicks, too, will be stricken.

Although the newborn animals themselves are defenseless against microbial onslaught, modern science in recent years has developed some effective means of protecting them against once-deadly diseases. Terramycin, for example, a powerful antibiotic, has proved effective in preventing and treating scours, pneumonia and other diseases of pigs and calves, and in clearing up open-wound infections. Added to drinking water, Terramycin wards off infection and helps both to reduce chick mortality and end laying slumps.

Animal diseases are still plundering farm revenue at a rate of more than $2 billion a year. The U.S. Department of Agriculture believes, however, that much of the loss can be prevented by presently available means. And, the Department adds, "much more can presumably be prevented by further research."

REPORT of DELEGATE TO HOME and SCHOOL CONVENTION

George Brennan

On Tuesday, April 3 I attended the 37th annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations and I enjoyed all the sessions I was able to attend. As different subjects ran concurrently it was just a matter of taking your choice.

Part of the morning sessions I attended were for association presidents and being new at the game myself I wanted to see what made some of them tick and may be pick up an idea or two. It was quite an education, believe me.

I learned that quite a few associations are suffering as we are—a falling off in attendance. We find that we are in competition with so many other attractions to say nothing of TV. This is a great pity considering the great work that home and school associations have done in the past, still are doing and can do for many years to come in the advancement of education.

Heads of Department of Education, teachers and all concerned have nothing but praise for the part we are playing in the scheme of things.

Mr. Forbes Elliott, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, pointed out some of the problems. He said that while we build palatial buildings lined with marble to store nickles and dimes, we build schools with cinder blocks and paint them various colors which are not always pleasing to the eye.

We should realize, he said, we are doing more than just educating the child, we are building a nation that we can all be justly proud.

Speaking for New Brunswick, he said that some communities hadn't had a qualified teacher for over 10 years. He said a study by the teachers' federation shows that where standards have been maintained or increased communities have been more successful in increasing the supply of qualified teachers. Rigid courses of study based on the assumption that all must have a wide range of studies result in mediocrity—a tendency to know a little about a great many things and not to know any one thing well.

Incidentally Mr. Elliott is principal of a regional high school which is similar to our district high school. He is also superintendent of elementary schools in his region. In addition to this he belongs to seven or eight service clubs and is an elder in his church. He is married and has three children.

He stated that Canada's children don't have equal opportunities for education. Opportunities vary from one section of a city to another and in rural and urban areas. Great differences exist from province to province, from Prince Edward Island's cost of $71.15 per pupil to Ontario's $182 and British Columbia's $238 (in 1951).

Prince Edward Island spends as much of its personal income on education as Ontario. Federal support for education seems to be the only solution unless the sources of revenue of provinces and municipalities are expanded.

Building good schools and staffing them with poor teachers is not good for education. Temporary solutions for the teacher shortage such as reducing academic requirements and some upward revision in salaries have failed to keep teachers in the profession.

The open session on health which I attended had as a speaker Dr. C. G. Stoddill, chief of child adjustment services, Toronto Board of Education. The topic was "Are we educating for family life." This was most interesting.

He took the child through a journey from dependency to independency. In the early stages, he said, the need was psychological. He said that most children are happy under control. They exchange acceptance of discipline for love. During adolescence they go through a period of awkwardness, embarrassment, acne, often seek seclusion and have a tendency to reject their elders while seeking the approval of their compatriots.

They have a fear of failure and disgrace. Whereas there is no 100% failure and no 100% success he spoke of hate being as normal a human emotion as love and that it was better to admit this than to deny it.

All motions for changes in the constitution and by-laws were voted on and passed. There were no drastic changes, Mrs. R. M. Shirk, the retiring president, explained. It was more or less just a house cleaning as to readability.

I noted too that it was the general opinion that it would be an advantage to home and school associations to have more men take an interest in their activities.

Haliburton WMS

The April meeting of the Haliburton W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. H. J. Black on Thursday, April 12 with the president, Mrs. Manning in the chair.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. George Wheeler assisted by Mrs. Manning, the theme being "Mission Tides." After each part was a discussion.

The roll call showed 15 members and two visitors.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A donation was received from Mrs. L. B. Windsor. The World Friends for the Mission Band are to be ordered. The final arrangements were made for a rummage sale, Mrs. Wes. Baker gave her report on community friendship.

Our literature report showed that 22 books have been read already. It was decided to take the money from sale of the violets Miss Minott gave and use it to buy new books for our library.

The articles that are on hand with our supply secretary were out on display for each member to see at the close of the meeting. The members are to be thanked for bringing as they do each meeting.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ches. Kellett.

Miss Minott was in charge of the program and the theme following that of the worship. She also showed a film entitled "Welcoming a Stranger" which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Melville McKnight presented Miss Minott with a bouquet of cut flowers expressing sympathy to her in the passing of her father recently.

The meeting closed with the benediction. A social half hour was enjoyed by all and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. W. R. Curry and Mrs. Chas. Tyler.

MP BLAMES FOURNIER

Calls Printing Bureau PWD's Biggest Blunder

Construction of the $15 million government printing bureau on Sacred Heart Boulevard in Hull "was one of the biggest blunders ever made by the Department of Public Works," it was charged.

—Portrait, Bright's Studio, Lindsay.

ed in the Commons today by C. W. Hodgson, Progressive Conservative member from Victoria-Haliburton.

During the opening discussion of the departmental estimates, he said that responsibility must be placed squarely on the shoulders of the former minister, now Mr. Justice Fournier of the Exchequer Court of Canada "who got his pay-off by getting a seat on the bench of the Exchequer Court."

Swamp Area

He said he did not criticize the bureau being built in Hull, "but surely a better site could have been found."

He claimed the site was nothing but "a lake swamp area."

He said that he had heard that already the floors were failing to hold up and that the foundations for the heavy machinery equipment were far from satisfactory.

He said that if the excavation had been left alone after it was dug, it could have been stocked with fish and would have been a fishermen's paradise.

The member, who speaks for the opposition on public works matters, also attacked the continued existence of the temporary buildings in Ottawa.

Not Fit For Use

He said there was no air conditioning in them and that they were not fit for use as offices.

"For God's sake, do something with these temporary buildings, he burst out in unparliamentary language.

He said that space was valuable here and that two or three storey building should be built on the site now occupied by the sprawling temporary buildings.

He said they were "temporary" in name only. Many had been there for 15 years and looked like staying for another 15.

The member criticized Trans-Canada Highway policy and said the federal government should pay 90% of the cost of such roads, leaving the provinces to build north-south provincial roads.

He said that if the pace of construction of the road was not speeded, soon section now built would start to wear out.

In any event, he said, the 22-foot width was not wide enough in many places now with modern traffic. The road should be at least 30 feet and four-lane widths in many places.

HALIBURTON ROTARY

Four Minden Rotarians helped to make a good attendance at last Thursday's meeting.

Many issues were discussed in order for next year, 1956-57 and president Harold Proctor announced the new board of directors as follows: president, Norm Sisco; vice president, Jim Cooper; treasurer, Bud Thayer; secretary, Jack Robertson.

The members mentioned again, their high esteem for Hugh Burke who left the club eight months ago, now a resident of British Columbia.

President Harold again spoke of his recent trip to the southern U.S. relating to the segregation of colored people and his experiences of listening to many tales of crimes as it is down there.

The meeting closed with O Canada.
